

Fellow Believers, Friends, and Family:

It is my privilege to share with you some amazing work God has been doing around the world and in my life lately. He has been filling my life with His love and has been growing me in His Word. He has deeply rooted in me a passion to share the Gospel daily and has given me a calling to build other believers up in their faith as well as share the love of Christ with those in my community who do not know the grace of God. As God has called me as an evangelist in cities, churches, and individuals' lives, He has also made me aware of the growing need to share the Gospel around the world where Christianity is scarce and often times costly. As I have spent time in prayer, over the last few months, it is an unavoidable truth that God is calling me to missions and evangelism in Kenya (Africa) for two weeks in June 2011.

The two weeks spent in Kenya will be focused on serving the natives. I will be with a team of eight to ten where we will meet Brother James Taylor who is the missionary sent out by my new church home, Pauline Baptist Church, in Monticello, Arkansas. We will spend the two weeks in Kenya with him and his family as we focus primarily on evangelism and passing out copies of the Bible in the local communities and villages. We will also work with children's ministry, basketball ministry, and spend time in the Word with some of the churches already planted there. It will be a time where our eyes are opened to the needs of the villagers, but also a time where we will see God's blessings and promises fulfilled.

As I go about God's work in missions and evangelism this summer in Kenya, I ask for your urgent prayers that the Gospel will be vastly spread and widely accepted. Please pray for the team going that we will cross over economic, cultural, and language barriers so that we can do all we can to physically help a portion of one of the world's most poorly and disease-ridden countries. I thank you for your open hearts as you seek God in prayer in monetary giving as he reveals to you His will. I am so grateful for God using you to make Matthew 9:37-38 a reality in my life!

Your brother in Christ,

J.T. Henderson
